

Newspaper Subscription Laws.

(Compiled from the United States Postal Laws and Court Decisions)

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their periodicals, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers neglect or refuse to take their periodicals from the post-office to which they are directed, they are responsible until they have settled their bills and ordered them discontinued.

4. If the subscriber moves to another place without informing the publishers, and the papers are sent to the former directions, he is held responsible.

5. The courts have decided that the refusing to take periodicals from the post-office, or removing or leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

6. If subscribers pay in advance they are bound to give notice to the publishers at the end of their time if they do not wish to continue taking it; otherwise the publisher is authorized to send it and the subscriber will be responsible until an express notice, with payment of arrearage, is sent to the publisher.

7. The latest postal laws are such that newspaper publishers can arrest any one for fraud who takes a paper and refuses to pay for it. Under this law the man who allows his subscription to run along for some time, unpaid, and then orders the postmaster to mark it "refused," and has a card sent notifying the publisher, lays himself liable to arrest and fine, the same as for theft.

Costs to Open Wrong Letters.

The authorities at Washington have fixed a penalty of $200 fine on any person taking out of the post office mail other than their own. All Postmasters are liable to make mistakes and get the mail in the wrong boxes, and the law says that people must examine their mail before leaving the office, and should they receive a piece which is not addressed to them, it must be returned at once. That it is the fault of the Postmaster makes no difference. This law includes newspapers as well as first class mail. There is a class of curious people everywhere, and they are, as a rule, contemptibly curious about letters and other mail matter which they chance to get hold of. They will open all letters coming to their possession, and often when doing full well they don't belong to them. They will, after reading the letters, be on the envelope "opened by mistake," and without signing their name put it back in the post office at night during the night when not observed. A class of curious individuals is warned to be careful in the future. If they hereafter mail which does not belong to them they must sign their name state why they opened the same, whether by accident or design.—Galesburg, Ill., Register.
